Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce and Vegetables.

PORTLAND, March 20. Hay prices are considered weak in Portland, in spite of the heavy draft on existing stocks resulting from the stormy weather on the ranges of the state. A great deal of hay is offered even at Eastern Oregon points, and there is only one possible outlet in sight now, according to dealers. That outlet is the Government demand for the Philippines.

Bids were opened in Portland, March 19, by the Quartermaster, who forwarded them to Washington. These offers were for 37,000 tons of timothy hay to be delivered here or in Seattle within 50 days after acceptance of the bids. The lowest figure is understood to be $18.25 a ton. The hay supplied must be double-compressed, so that a ton will occupy only 82 cubic feet in a vessel's hold.

"The hay will probably be shipped from Seattle," a dealer said today. "Portland's bid must be pretty low to secure the job."
